Green Trade: Practices and International Cooperation

Date: 14:00-16:00, November 6, 2026

Venue: Hall 4.2 D1, National Exhibition and Convention Center (Shanghai)

Hosted by: Ministry of Commerce of the People's Republic of China

Organized by: School of Environment, Tsinghua University; TianGong Think Tank, Research Institute for Environmental Innovation (Suzhou), Tsinghua

Co-organized by: Carbon Footprint Alliance (CFA)

Introduction:

Building on China's practices in green trade development, this parallel session will focus on emerging trends in the global green and low-carbon transition and international economic and trade cooperation. It will bring together representatives from government agencies, international organizations, domestic and international companies, and academia for in-depth dialogue. The session will highlight China's positive progress in green trade and explore key issues, including international green trade policies and regulatory coordination, green collaboration across supply chains, and the participation of developing countries.

The session will also feature the launch of the report titled China's Practices in Developing Green Trade, which will systematically review China's major practices and experience gained in exploring green trade development. The report will provide a reference for the international community to better understand China's green trade practices and deepen cooperation in related areas.
