

Exhibitor's Manual for China International Import Expo
Enterprise & Business Exhibition

Opening Remarks

Dear Exhibitors,

In May 2017, Chinese President Xi Jinping announced that China would host China International Import Expo (CIIE) from 2018 onwards and that the first session would be held in Shanghai from November 5 to 10, 2018 at the Belt and Road Forum for International Cooperation. The CIIE will mark a significant move for the Chinese government to push forward a new round of high-level opening-up, and an important measure to actively open the Chinese market to the world. It will serve as an open cooperation platform for countries and regions across the world to showcase their development achievements and launch international trade, and also an international public product for promoting trade liberalization and economic globalization.

The first CIIE will set up a business show for enterprises, including two divisions of goods trade and service trade. Goods trade division will comprise exhibition areas of intelligent & high-end equipment, consumer electronics & home appliances, apparel & accessories and daily consumer goods, automobile, food & agricultural products, medical equipment & healthcare products, etc. Service trade division will comprise exhibition areas of emerging technology, service outsourcing, creative design, culture & education, tourism service, logistics service, comprehensive service, etc. During the Expo, Hongqiao International Trade Forum as well as a series of substantial trade promotion activities will be held. Enterprises from more than 100 countries and regions will participate in the Expo, and 150,000 professional buyers are expected to attend the exhibition.

In the next five years, China is expected to import over 10 trillion USD goods and services, which means a historic opportunity for enterprises across the globe to expand their business in the market of China.

On behalf of the CIIE organizing committee, we hereby sincerely thank you for your participation in the CIIE to showcase your most competitive products and services, promote global trade growth, and achieve greater mutual benefit and win-win cooperation. We look forward to your coming to Shanghai, China!

3.2.4 Mobile Communication and Networks

The 4G network signal fully covers all areas of the venue, with its work capacity currently able to meet the call demand of about 250,000 people per day; a high-performance switching network platform has been built inside the venue, and the comprehensive network cabling covers a wide range of services. The available services include ordinary broadband, high-speed private line broadband, wired fixed line, etc. At the same time, the venue provides a free wireless Wi-Fi network “NECC-FREE” with wide coverage, which can offer high-density, high-bandwidth customized wireless access services according to the needs of the Expo.

3.3 Supporting Facilities of the Venue

1. Commerce: The Commercial Plaza of NECC (Shanghai) integrates the functions of shopping, catering, exhibition, entertainment and leisure, and is connected with various exhibition halls. It not only provides supporting services for the Expo, but also extends the Expo effect to meet various needs. In addition to the introduction of large chain restaurants, such as KFC, McDonald’s, Pizza Hut, and Starbucks, as well as domestic and foreign specialty food brands, the plaza has established a series of experience sites of well-known brands such as banks, supermarkets, and import direct sales centers that include the functions of publicity and sales, with an aim to provide one-stop, personalized supporting services for exhibitors.

2. Hotel: InterContinental Shanghai Hongqiao NECC is the only luxury hotel located within NECC (Shanghai). It is located at the southwest end of the “Clover” and is connected to the exhibition halls via a walking path of 8 meters in elevation. The hotel integrates such functions as accommodation, conference, business, catering, and leisure. Whether traveling for business or leisure, you can always enjoy the comfortable amenities and considerate services of a five-star hotel.
