With the trend of economic globalization and the deepening of cooperation among countries, the convention and exhibition industry is playing a more and more important role in a country's economic development and has therefore become the synonym for city name card and city economic propeller. Riding the tide of reform, Shandong Xi Exhibition and Exhibition Service Co., Ltd. directly communicates with global economy with professionalism and services. From entering the industry in 2008 to establishing subsidiaries today, Xi Exhibition has always been practicing the company philosophy of "advocating innovation, being efficient and professional and being strict about details". Xi Exhibition, with a professional design team and convention and exhibition planning elites, offers institutions and enterprises with custom practical services that reflect their characteristics and connotation. In the meantime, Xi Exhibition has a professional manufacturing workshop and a professional construction team who strictly controls engineering and product quality, as well as cooperative factories in major cities nationwide to provide onsite manufacturing service. The Decoration Engineering Department has, with high-level professional design and high-quality manufacturing that are shown in the whole process from decoration design and selection and matching of finishing materials to decoration construction and maintenance, won customers' praise and trust. The Convention & Exhibition Service Department has, with the lowest cost, the optimal design and the best results, been designated by many large exhibitions as the booth constructor and venue service provider. The Advertising and Planning Department, which has gathered a group of professional talents with high qualities, offers customers with the best exclusive plan. Xi Exhibition will, with the Expo as the opportunity, own design as highlights, execution as the power, professional services as the support and "providing customers with the best services" as the mission, devote all its love for the industry to its work, trying to make every design a breakthrough and every work a classic.
