Introduction:

At present, the regional economic integration progress is on the rise, and free trade agreements such as the Regional Comprehensive Economic Partnership have been successively signed, which greatly accelerates the free flow of the regional commodity elements and the construction pace of the common market. The financial sector is an important part of the process of economic integration and also faces an unprecedented development window period. This topic will focus on the opportunities and challenges faced by financial openness and cooperation under the trend of regional economic integration.
